

Investment Review

The Hereford/DSM Large Cap Fund NAV depreciated (3.1)% for the month of August compared to a (4.7)% depreciation for the Russell 1000 Growth index and a (4.5)% depreciation for the S&P500. At the end of August, the Fund was invested primarily in the health care, technology, consumer, business services, and financial services sectors, with smaller weights in the energy and materials sectors.

During the month, the Fund exceeded its benchmark, on a gross-of-expense basis by approximately 150 bps. This was primarily the result of positive stock selection in the consumer discretionary and technology sectors. Stock selection in the health care sector detracted from performance. In August, the best performing positions in the portfolio were Priceline.com, Amazon.com, Cognizant, McDonalds and Nestle. Intuitive Surgical, Dolby and Cisco were the worst performers. During the month, the Fund exited its position in Dolby Laboratories. Dolby was sold as the stock had appreciated significantly and channel checks indicated slowing sales of consumer electronics. The Fund initiated a position in 3M Company, a leading global industrial company. Its unique products are typically based on proprietary science and are sold into a broad array of industries. Approximately one-third of 3M's revenues are generated in the emerging markets.

In recent weeks, economic statistics have indicated that the global economy may be slowing. It is disappointing to investors, business people, and the public at large, that economic growth appears to be so sluggish. But while it is disappointing, it should not be surprising. The big question is whether or not the global economy will enter a "double-dip" recession. At this point in time, we continue to expect the world to muddle through with a positive but slow growth outcome.

However, as 2011 approaches, the expiration of the Bush tax cuts draws nearer. If these tax cuts expire as planned, higher tax rates will likely further reduce US economic growth. We do not believe this effect will be large enough to cause a recession but, clearly, higher taxes are not a positive for growth. If, on the other hand, a double-dip recession were to occur, we would expect a bounce back to sluggish growth after a shallow "double-dip" and a not lengthy period of time. With either outcome, we feel that the portfolio is well positioned. The businesses are generally economically defensive and serve growing end-markets. No doubt, many of the businesses would grow faster if global economic growth was more rapid. However, most will still grow revenues and earnings even if a moderate double-dip recession occurs.

Investment Objective

The investment objective of the LCG sub fund is to provide capital appreciation principally through investments in US-based growing corporations with market capitalizations generally above 2 billion dollars. These companies are chosen for their growth prospects, attractive returns, solid business fundamentals and intelligent management. The sub fund may, on an ancillary basis, invest in US-based companies with lower market capitalizations as well as in non-US based companies. The Compartment may invest in American Depository Receipts and American Depository Shares. The reference benchmark for this strategy is the Russell 1000 Growth Index.
